A photograph of a man and a woman in a forest. The woman, with long dark hair, is seen from the side and back, wearing a red top and a dark skirt, leaning against a tree trunk. The man, with dark hair and a beard, is standing next to her, looking at her. The background is a dense forest with green moss and fallen leaves.

Happy New Year! A new year is always a time for reflection, and taking stock. What did we achieve in the last 12 months, and what are we looking forward to in the year ahead?

It's fair to say that 2025 was a year of change at Phoenix, with new leadership and a move to 5-day opening in the face of challenges that continue to affect the cultural sector nationwide. Over the course of last year we screened hundreds of different films from around the world, presented multiple film seasons and festivals, staged 9 exhibitions by acclaimed local and international artists, delivered dozens of short courses and workshops to people of all ages, and worked with community curators and ambassadors to deliver a programme that represents and celebrates Leicester's remarkable diversity.

We also threw our hat into the ring for the inaugural BIFA Cinema of the Year awards, and though we didn't make it through to the nomination stage, we garnered votes from hundreds of people who all took the time to say what they think makes Phoenix special. BIFA shared these quotes with us following the close of voting, and it's fair to say that our hearts have been well and truly warmed by the love you clearly feel for Phoenix. Here's just a tiny snapshot...

"I cannot imagine my life without Phoenix, it genuinely improves my life and wellbeing. LOVE IT!"

"A real part of the community!"

"It's such a special place for Leicester! A hub of creativity and inspiration."

"The atmosphere is so welcoming. It's like a big hug!"

"One of my favourite places to be."

"The heart and soul of film in Leicester."

"Phoenix is a hugely important cultural space in Leicester and the city is better off for it."

"Probably my favourite place in the entire city!"

We'd like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who voted for us for your kind words and support, and hopefully next time we'll make it through to the nominations!

Looking ahead into 2026, we'll continue our work to bring to Leicester a unique programme curated by our team for local audiences, with a focus on community, accessibility and environmental stewardship. As part of the city's cultural ecosystem, we will support local creatives by providing opportunities for local filmmakers and artists to bring their work to Phoenix audiences, and through our PLATFORM Network we'll nurture creatives looking to develop their careers – vital if we're to ensure there's a thriving creative sector here in the city.

Phoenix is proudly independent. We are your cinema and arts centre in the heart of your city. We look forward to seeing you soon.

COMPUTATIONAL CONSTRUCTS: SEAN CLARK

Fri 9 Jan – Mon 30 Mar
Café Bar, Free

Leicester-based computer artist and curator Sean Clark's latest work, Computational Constructs, explores his recurrent themes of systems, connectedness and self-organisation through the creation of rule-based interactive patterns.

Twenty prints from Computational Constructs will be displayed in our Café Bar, accompanied by computer-generated videos and an interactive multimedia version of the artwork.

The work is also part of Computational 2025 at LCB Depot in January, where Sean will present a live performance of music generated by Computational Constructs.

The artwork is also being shown in London and will be going to China later in 2026, so this is a great opportunity to see work by a Leicester-based computer artist who is exhibiting his art nationally and internationally.

SUE GOLLIFER RETROSPECTIVE

Until Sun 11 Jan
Phoenix gallery, FREE

Sue Gollifer (b. 1944) began her career as a printmaker, having graduated with a master's degree from the University of Brighton in 1969. She worked as an artist and academic, gaining a reputation for her innovative silkscreen technique.

Drawn to a "computational aesthetic", she was initially discouraged from using computers in her work by an establishment that regarded computer programming as an unsuitable activity for a female artist. She reacted to this by "becoming a computer" in the production of her artwork, before later using digital devices to help create her art. She went on to curate the highly influential ArCade exhibitions of electronic prints, and was an executive director of ISEA International.

As a pioneer of early computer art and a printmaker who has explored the relationship between technology and the arts throughout her career, Sue has had a huge impact in driving the field forward and creating opportunities for other artists around the world.

This retrospective exhibition features a collection of rarely-seen prints, alongside video material in which Sue reflects on the challenges she faced early in her career as a printmaker looking to make use of computers in her work.

A free exhibition catalogue can be downloaded from Interact Digital Arts, interactdigitalarts.uk – a limited-edition printed copy is also available to purchase.

KNOWING ME, KNOWING YOU – THE TRUE SELF IN JAPANESE CINEMA

FEB – MAR

Knowing others – let alone ourselves – is not easy. Our behaviour changes depending on the relationship or environment we're in, and in an age when digital technology allows imagery to be manipulated, it's even harder to define who we, or others, truly are. This notion of identity is often explored in cinema, but is it really possible to know our true selves?

The Japan Foundation Touring Film Programme returns to Phoenix a part of its UK-wide festival, bringing a collection of films that centred on the theme of the true self and the quest to understand it. From social dramas and laugh-out-loud comedies, to fantasy, horror and classic titles, the 2-month programme has something for everyone!

We need your support

Phoenix is a registered charity, and we've been at the heart of Leicester's cultural scene for 60 years, first on Upper Brown Street, before moving to the city's Cultural Quarter in 2009.

These are challenging times – with big cuts to funding for arts and culture, and escalating operating costs.

As an independent charity we rely on donations to keep our doors open so we can keep serving Leicester's communities.

Please show your support for Phoenix by making a donation – you can do it online now, or at Box Office when you visit.

You can also support Phoenix by making us your first choice for cinema. Buy tickets, use our Café Bar, become a MyPhoenix member, buy Phoenix gift vouchers, hold your events here... and spread the word far and wide.

Community access to art and culture makes a real difference to people's lives – your support is vital to sustain our future and keep Phoenix here for Leicester.

A PROGRAMMER'S VIEW

Jake Harvey
Cinema Programme Manager

We are gearing up for a busy awards season at the start of 2026 at Phoenix, with most of the award contenders released leading up to the BAFTA and OSCAR ceremonies. The starting pistol was fired early this year when Ryan Coogler's audacious Sinners was released in April, and helped by a fervorous online reaction, Best Picture and Director nominations seem locked in, along with Michael B. Jordan's performance as brothers Smoke and Stack. Paul Thomas Anderson's One Battle After Another which came out in September seems on course to be nominated for the "big five" of Best Picture, Director, Actor, Actress and Screenplay – look out for screenings of both of these to be dropped into Feb and Mar after the nominations are announced!

Looking across January and February every week sees a big new release – kicking off with Joachim Trier's grown-up drama Sentimental Value featuring superb performances from Stellan Skarsgård and Renate Reinsve. Opening in the first week of Jan we have Marty Supreme – the tale of a ping-pong prodigy in 50s America should see Timothée Chalamet nominated for his third Oscar. An awards season dark horse is Song Sung Blue, the true story of a Neil Diamond tribute act who find unexpected fame – audiences have taken to the heartfelt tone and been charmed by the sincere performances of Kate Hudson and Hugh Jackman. Director Chloe Zhao (The Rider, Nomadland) enters the awards again with her new film Hamnet – a profoundly moving drama based on Maggie O'Farrell's novel. Jessie Buckley is a force of nature in her role as a grieving mother and will be deservedly nominated for every award going.

Mid-January sees the return of Park-Chan wook (Decision to Leave, The Handmaiden) with his sublime satire No Other Choice and he could be about to follow the same awards route that fellow South Korean filmmaker Bong Joon-ho took with Parasite in 2019. Claire Foy (The Crown) is on great form in the adaptation H is for Hawk, playing a woman who deals with her grief over losing her father by training a goshawk. Excellent support comes from Brendan Gleeson and it should feature prominently at the BAFTAs. Finally the start of the year sees the release of two world cinema titles expected to be in the awards conversation: Kaouther Ben Hania's fierce, unflinching and devastating The Voice of Hind Rajab and Kleber Mendonça Filho's gripping Brazilian thriller The Secret Agent. Both speak directly and urgently to our times and I am implore you not to miss either.
